

Welcome to Taking the Stage®!

Welcome to Taking the Stage®, a leadership communication program designed to help women own their voice, elevate their presence, and speak with confidence.

Over the course of this experience, you'll explore what leadership means to you, reflect on your leadership identity, and learn to communicate with authenticity and clarity. You'll strengthen your presence, expand your influence, and develop the tools to lead in a way that feels both impactful and authentic to who you are.

Whether you're preparing to speak in a meeting, navigating a challenging conversation, or sharing your ideas with senior stakeholders, this program will help you rise to those moments with intention and purpose.

Taking the Stage® has empowered over half a million women worldwide, and I'm excited to guide you through this experience. We'll learn together, support one another, and build the confidence to speak as leaders.

Keep an eye on your inbox, your next steps and pre-work will be arriving soon.

Looking forward to learning with you!
